In such circumstances, Seller may also change the nature of any credit terms granted to Buyer, and may institute alternate payment requirements, including but not limited to requiring that Buyer pre-pay for all Product in advance of its scheduled delivery, in cash or certified funds, via wire transfer, or provide Seller with a Letter of Credit, a deposit, or another form of security, upon Seller's request. If the Parties found to be jointly or concurrently negligent, by a court of competent jurisdiction, each Party shall indemnify the other's Indemnified Parties only to the extent of its own negligent acts or omissions, or its willful misconduct. Each Party agrees to notify the other Party as soon as practicable after receiving notice of any claim that could result in a suit brought against it for which it may seek indemnity under this Agreement and each Party shall provide to the other Party all material details within its knowledge and render all reasonable assistance requested by the other Party for its defense. In the event of default, the non-defaulting party may cancel this Contract and all other contracts between the parties whether or not the defaulting party may otherwise be in default thereunder. If either party defaults as to any delivery under this Contract, the non-defaulting party may then cancel the entire Contract between the Parties. A Party's failure to exercise its rights under this paragraph shall not be construed as a waiver of such rights. No right shall accrue on account of any such cancellation nor shall the non-breaching party's failure to cancel other contracts or to accelerate subsequently maturing contracts be construed as a waiver of any subsequent default. Either Party may pursue any remedy allowed by law. In the event of breach of this Contract, then all amounts owed to the breaching party may be applied and otherwise setoff by the non-breaching party against the payment of the amounts owed by the breaching party, in addition to any and all other right and remedies available hereunder.
